Stepping it up a notch, keeping Rock'n'Roll alive, making it heavier and harder. XSKULL8 are best described as a modern heavy rock band that walks the line between rock and metal music. Sincere and raw power, boosted with modern sound. This European band's performance is so real, we can easily say, that the stage is their second home.

THE BAND

XSKULL8 (formerly known as Captain Morgan's Revenge) started as a trio from Novo mesto. Max (now former drummer) and Rok were friends from early beginnings of their musical journey and Alex was a guitarist of Rok's former metal band. It all started in Rok's garage, where they recorded the first demo of Don't let The R'n'R die. Once those 3 friends decided how to name their project they sent the song to a couple of local radio stations. Just for fun. Then it happened. The crowd loved the purity and the power of that simple rock'n'roll song and wanted more. They said OK, released another song and again... same story. Few days after, Nejc Godec came into the band as a bassist and on 4th of December 2015, CMR officially went public with their first concert. And so it goes...

In 2017 they released their third single Same Fools, recorded a video, and some homemade demo EP for promotional purpose. In 2018 they released a music video for their first »soft« song Say You'll Be Mine just to tease the crowd and on May 18th they released a full length, »live vibed« (everything except the vocals was recorded live) debut album Queen Of The Night. The band played alot of the main venues in Slovenia and had some great gigs abroad. One of the most memorable was on Demofest 2018, where they lit the crowd "on fire". Not even the storm could stop them at that moment when the band played their first riff.

In 2019 the band got a true maniac on guitar - Johnny J. They then immediately started making new material. First single with Johnny My Worst Enemy, was released on 26th of April and not long after that, they welcomed Klemen to the band. There was an instant change. Songwriting just became better, the band started working as one big and LOUD machine.

In 2020 some major changes came into play. Music became harder, soaked with R'n'R and since their music escalated, it's only right that the name does too... That's how XSKULL8 was born.

In June 2021 band got signed by Curtain Call Records and immediately released From Sin To Sinners album. Single Leaves Are Falling got some great attention. Got tthe band to semi-finals for Banger Music Awards, Got into TOP 10 on Secondary Market rock charts in US and TOP 20 at Billboard Mainstream Rock Indicator Chart (right between Five Finger Death Punch and Asking Alexandria).
